The 2025 Retrospective and 2026 Horizon

A Structural Analysis of the North American Healthcare Workforce

By 2025, the healthcare staffing market wasn't rebounding, it was hardening. Pandemic-era distortions became permanent realities, margins tightened, regulation intensified, and clinicians began pushing back. This report breaks down what changed, why it matters, and what 2026 will demand from an industry at a turning point.

Clinical & Recruiter Spotlight!

Makduma M. (Recruiter)

"My recruitment journey began with a passion for empowering nurses and healthcare professionals. I believe that when people feel valued and supported in their roles, they deliver exceptional care and thrive. That's why I prioritize clear communication, transparency, and long-term satisfaction in every interaction. Guiding candidates with clarity, honesty and support is deeply motivating me. Working with T4h has been a game-changer – it's amplified my ability to make meaningful connections and grow professionally."

A message from Makduma's manager:

Since joining T4h in 2022 as a fresher, Makduma has been a force of dedication and focus. Always putting her clinicians first, she goes the extra mile to support them while consistently delivering results. Her hard work and perseverance have helped her grow into a lead recruiter, becoming an invaluable part of my team. I am proud to spotlight her for the incredible impact she makes every day!

Thelma B. (Clinician)

A message from a recruiter:

I've been working with 'Thelma', a dedicated nurse, as her recruiter since Feb 2023. She is incredibly professional, always available, and super kind. Her dedication to understanding hospital needs and providing support has been impressive. Thelma's passion for delivering excellent patient care shines through in her work, and I'm excited to support her career growth. Wow... Go Thelma!

A message Thelma's manager:

Thelma has been a stand out in Med/Surg, now completing her 6th assignment with Makduma through T4H. She has consistently gone above and beyond, taking extra shifts, supporting patient care during high census periods, and ensuring smooth operations. Her dedication is reflected in multiple extensions and the fact that no escalations have ever been reported from any of the hospitals she has worked at through us. Always ending assignments on excellent terms, Thelma has been redeployed with the same facilities' multiple times, proving herself as a trusted and valued member of the team.
